

Next Generation Global Health Security Network

What Is the NextGen GHS Network?

An interdisciplinary and international network of early to mid-career professionals and students engaged in global health security-related activities.

- Vision - Aim to engage and facilitate continuous contributions by early to mid-stage professionals and students to the GHSA.
- Mission - Create and manage a network of early to mid-stage professionals and students from government and non-governmental institutions.
- Values - Aim to promote values of Participation, Education, and Innovation in the GHSA.

Jamechia Hoyle
Coordinator – 2016-2017

Raad Fadaak & Taylor Winkleman
Deputies – 2016-2017

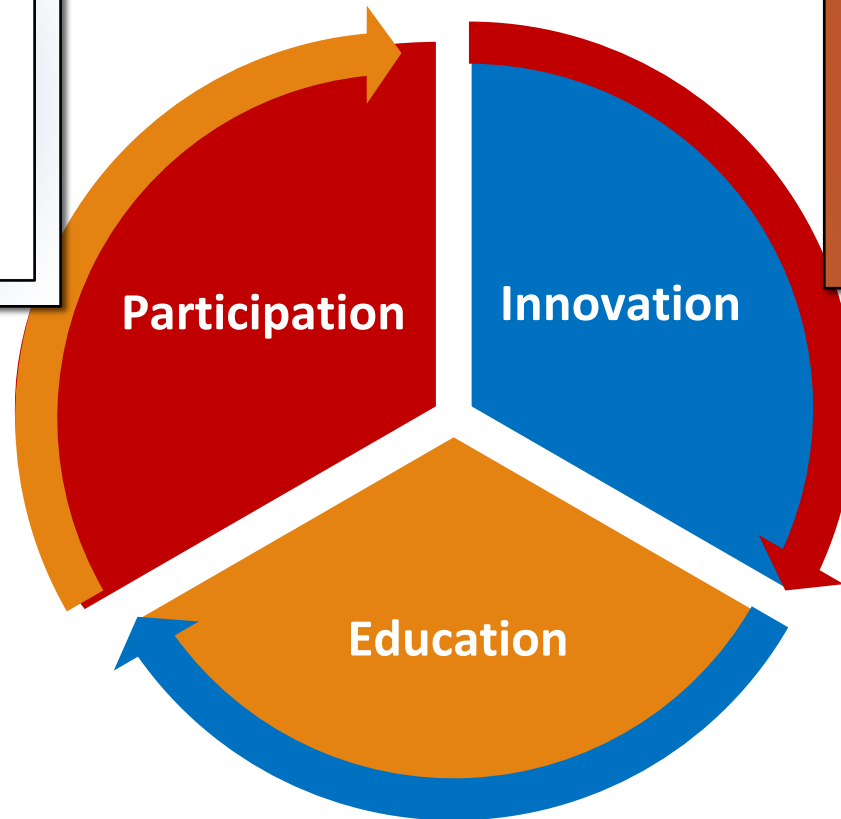

150+ members in 40 countries

Core Values and Vision

- Expand network
- Facilitate future working relationships
- Enhance effective responses during public health emergencies.

- Offer creative and non-traditional solutions to the GHSA portfolio
- Assist and enhance current and future decision-makers during public health emergencies.

Provide an enhanced commitment to public outreach and awareness through academic training and educational campaigns, aimed at communicating information effectively among science, policy, and the general public vital to managing public health emergencies.

2016 Activities

- The Network held elections in June 2016, with Dr. Jamechia Hoyle becoming acting Coordinator. She appointed two deputies, Mr. Raad Fadaak and Dr. Taylor Winkleman to fill out the executive team.
- The website, social media platforms, and online presence has been established and will be leveraged to connect and inform current and future members.
- The Network organized and hosted its first webinar in a series of planned educational events across the 2016-2017 year.
- The Network became a member of the JEE Alliance.
- The Next Generation Global Health Security (NGGHS) Mentorship Program was launched in November 2016.
- Participated in the GHSA Fall Event which included events in collaboration with the One Health Commission, PSRT organizations and GHSAC organizations.

2017 Activities (anticipated)

- NGGHS Mentorship Program kickoff - January 26th
- Mobile App Development Competition (Sept/Oct. 2017) - One Health Approach to Surveillance
- GHSA Fellowship Program
- Continue to expand the network
 - Goal: 2 NextGen members (min.) from each participating country
 - Establish Regional Working Groups
- Continue to engage with the JEE Alliance
 - NextGen involvement in JEE Process (assessments and road map development)
 - Long-term strategies for process improvement for the assessments
 - Create a novel space for open, transparent communication on moving from JEE Assessment to mobilization of resources within countries.
- Continue to engage with GHSA High-level meetings
 - Steering Group Meetings
 - 2017 Ministerial Conference (Uganda)
- Continue to partner with GHSAC and PSRT in areas of advocacy, implementation and success of GHSA.

Commit to ensuring a world safe and secure from the threat of infectious diseases.

Jamechia D. Hoyle, DHSc, MPH, MS
Coordinator

Next Generation Global Health Security Network

<http://ghsanextgen.wixsite.com/home>

<https://www.linkedin.com/groups/8125931>

twitter.com/nextgenghsa

facebook.com/nextgenghsa